The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has notified your community that it will be placed on probationary status in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) unless certain remedial measures are taken by March 30, 2022.

In accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, communities that participate in the NFIP must adopt and enforce floodplain management regulations that meet minimum NFIP criteria. Meeting these criteria makes communities more resistant to the damaging effects of flooding on lives, property, and local prosperity.

To avoid probation, your community must correct one or more deficiencies in its floodplain management program and/or remedy one or more violations of its floodplain management regulations before the date above. FEMA has explained the problem area(s) to your community—and the steps required to keep its good standing in the NFIP.

While flood insurance coverage would still be available should your community be placed on probation, a $50.00 Probation Surcharge would be added to the premium for each NFIP flood policy written or renewed in your community for at least one year. This surcharge is needed to offset some of the added risk assumed by the NFIP because of your community's noncompliance.

If your community does not take the steps required to remain in good standing, it may be suspended from the NFIP and federally backed flood insurance will no longer be available. In suspended communities, the following protections against floods and other disasters are also prohibited by the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973.

- Grants, loans, or guarantees from federal agencies—like the Federal Housing Administration, the Department of Veterans Affairs, and the Small Business Administration—to buy or construct an insurable building in a Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA).
- Federal disaster assistance to buy, construct, or repair an insurable building in an SFHA.
- Post-disaster, individual and family grant assistance for housing and personal property in an SFHA.
